Ebola and its Growing Implications for Health, Hunger and Livelihoods in Sierra Leone and Liberia

You know about Ebola. You know it is serious.

Join the Presbyterian Mission Agency in learning through the lens of their work about the Ebola outbreak and its growing implications for health, hunger and livelihoods in Sierra Leon and Liberia. Hear from church leaders, a public health specialist and grassroots organizer about the facts on Ebola, what’s happening on the ground, how people are being impacted, and what the response has been.

This webinar will focus on the impacts of Ebola on rural communities involved with the West Africa Initiative (WAI), a collaboration between the Presbyterian Church (USA), Agricultural Missions, Inc., the Council of Churches in Sierra Leone and West Africa Initiative of Liberia, as well as the response of other ecumenical partners.

“Inspite of It All”

Alexina Stine-Sevey, a ruling elder at Stroudsburg First Presbyterian Church, has recently revised her book In Spite of It All: A Story of Recovery and Redemption. It is the powerful, inspiring story of her husband, Robert Andrew Sevey, who overcame great odds to become a “winner.” He was not famous, but his story is noteworthy. He was not nationally acclaimed, but he was one of many, many ordinary people who did remarkable things during their lives.

You can read more about this biography/memoir or order it at www.amazon.com/In-Spite-It-All-Redemption/dp/1460935349 or www.amazon.com/In-Spite-It-All-Redemption-ebook/dp/B003BIGFNY.

In a review of the book in First Presbyterian's monthly newsletter, Rev George Taylor wrote "In Spite of It All . . . is the unvarnished truth about a man who, like Jacob, wrestled with his demons and wrestled with his God. I have just finished reading Alex's book, and I must tell you I could not put it down. Alex brings Bob to life in all the exuberance, joy, and adventure in which Bob lived life."

Committee on Mission Responsibility Through Investment Equity Investments in Companies Doing Business in Israel

The recent General Assembly actions regarding investments in Israel have been of concern to many Presbyterians and their Jewish neighbors. The well-publicized decisions to act on holdings of Caterpillar, Motorola Solutions, and Hewlet-Packard stock have led some to believe that the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.) has taken a stand against Israel, as opposed to a stand against those companies.

It is important to realize, however, that the PCUSA continues to have robust investment in Israeli companies, as well as national and international companies doing business in Israel.

According to the 2013 year-end report on the investments of the New Covenant Funds and the Presbyterian Foundation, and the April 30, 2014 holdings report of the Board of Pensions, PCUSA involvement is substantial.

The following list, which is only partial, includes Israeli companies, and international and U.S. companies doing business in Israel either through subsidiaries or selling products and/or services (some are members of the American Chamber of Commerce in Israel).

This partial listing alone totals over $213 million according to the value at the time of the reports cited above.

Israeli Companies: Teva $ 3,411,341 Checkpoint Software $ 1,003,000 Bank Leumi $ 19,347 ICL-Israel $ 11,410 Delek Group $ 5,241 Nice Systems $ 848 Israel Corp. ORD $ 6,687	International Companies: Unilever $ 12,285,814	U.S. Companies: American Express $ 19,528,682 Abbot Labs $ 5,047,216 Applied Materials $ 6,742,398 Analog Devices $ 7,905,607 Air Products $ 6,399,878 Apple $ 25,027,608 Cisco Systems $ 15,012,154 Coca-Cola $ 142,874 DuPont $ 1,346,400 Eli Lilly $ 19,749,660 General Electric $ 10,899,263 Intel $ 11,512,138 McDonald's $ 245,428 Microsoft $ 44,834,524 Oracle $ 9,388,399 Proctor & Gamble $ 12,547,390
TOTAL $ 213,073,307

How to Missional This Halloween

For some, Halloween is a time of fun, while others see it as contrary to Christian values.
Others still see Halloween as an opportunity to share the Gospel!

As the church grows in mission and diversity, worship services are becoming more and more global in the languages spoken and sung. Glory to God includes hymnody from 6 different continents (no penguin hymns from Antarctica, sadly), over a dozen different printed languages, and music from many more countries. For the first time, Arabic and Mandarin Chinese (and other non-Romanic alphabet languages) are printed in their original characters in a Presbyterian hymnal.

More than twenty songs from the Taize community are included (like "Nothing Can Trouble/Nada te turbe" and "Be Not Afraid"), and equally as many from the Iona community (like "Will You Come and Follow Me" and "God Welcomes All"). Other global hymns and songs in Glory to God include "God Is Here Today/Dios esta aqui" (Honduras), "Praise God, All You Nations/Da n'ase" (Ghana), and "Come Now, O Prince of Peace/O so so" (Korea).

To learn more about Glory to God, or to order your own copy, visit www.thepresbyterianleader.com. Discounted prices and offers are available including a no-interest installment plan! Act now. These offers expire December 31, 2014. ## Pathways for Clergy Renewal

Work-Life Balance: Maintaining Self While Giving to Others

Tuesday, November 4, 2014, 9:15 a.m.
(sign in and coffee begin at 8:30 a.m.) through 1:00 p.m.

Led by Stephen Treat, DMin, LMFT, Senior Therapist and CEO Emeritus, Council for Relationships

Clergy are often perceived by their congregants to be available 24/7. How do they maintain a sense of self and balance in a vocation which requires that clergy set their own boundaries? In this seminar, we will discuss core dynamics of effective leadership and the need to develop healthy boundaries in pastoral relationships.

Developing and Maintaining Healthy Relationships in Congregational Settings

Tuesday, January 13, 2015, 9:15 a.m.
(sign in and coffee begin at 8:30 a.m.) through 1:00 p.m.

Led by Flo Guynn Stiffler, MDiv, LMFT, Director, Training for Clergy, and Senior Therapist & Stephen Treat, DMin, LMFT, Senior Therapist and CEO Emeritus, Council for Relationships

The demands and expectations of clergy within their congregational settings are complicated and challenging. This seminar will explore managing difference and conflict in our churches and synagogues, and the attitudes and skills needed to bring insight, understanding, healing and health to the relationships with our congregations.

Cost (including lunch): $40 per session.

Both programs will be held at Bryn Mawr Presbyterian Church, 625 Montgomery Avenue, Bryn Mawr, PA 19010.

To register, visit www.middletoncenter.org or call 610-525-0766.

CROSSROADS

Road Hazards, our Congregational Ethics course, runs during November starting Saturday, November 1, 2014.

Four consecutive Monday nights 6-9 pm (Nov 3, 10, 17 & 24) and four consecutive Saturdays 9am - noon (Nov 1, 8, 15 & 22).

Learn about common financial issues, protecting children, power & control, decision making and other issues within congregations. In addition, participants work on a project about a societal ethical issue of their choosing to present to the class. Traditional ethical systems are explored along with a look at marketplace ethics. ### Presbyterian World Mission Encourages Congregations to Host an Event and Discussion About the Movie “The Good Lie.”

The movie, which opens in theaters October 3rd, focuses on the “Lost Boys,” who were orphaned by the brutal civil war in Sudan, beginning in 1983. Fifteen years later, a humanitarian effort would bring 3600 lost boys, as well as girls, to America.

Philippe Falardeau has written a moving screenplay which stars Academy Award® winner Reese Witherspoon alongside Sudanese actors, and children of war, Arnold Oceng, Ger Duany, Emmanuel Jal, and newcomer Kuoth Wiel.

Mamere and Theo are sons of the chief in their village in Southern Sudan. When an attack by Northern militia destroys their home and kills their parents, eldest son Theo is forced to lead a group of young survivors, including his sister Abital, on the difficult trek to Kakuma refugee camp in Kenya. Thirteen years later, the now young adults are given the opportunity to leave the camp and resettle in America. Upon arriving in Kansas, they are met by Carrie Davis (Witherspoon), an employment agency counselor who has been enlisted to help find them jobs—no easy task, when things like light switches and telephones are brand new to them.

What:

Warner Brothers offered a few members of Presbyterian World Mission a sneak preview of the movie and we were moved by the story. It's a wonderful opportunity to invite your congregation, other churches and your community, to see and share a vivid reenactment of life in Sudan. The movie is rated PG-13 because of some scenes of violence.

When:

The movie opens in most theaters nationwide on October 3rd. For movie resources, go to: thegoodlieresources.com.

How:

If you decide to host a discussion group to talk about the movie, World Mission will supply mission co-workers, who have lived in Sudan, to speak to your audience.

Why:

This is an opportunity for your congregation to learn more about the South Sudan Education & Peacemaking Project. With its partners, Presbyterian World Mission has committed to providing quality education for children in South Sudan that instills Christian values, respect for women, loving our neighbor despite ethnic differences, and service to others. The goal is to help the country gain its educational footing while helping to foster a sustainable culture of peace. Attached is a summary of the project, along with a link for those who are interested in supporting it: Download the PDF and Donate to E052172-1.

For more information about the movie, please contact Kathy Melvin in World Mission, (502) 569-5415 or email her at Kathy.Melvin@pcusa.org.
